

TEN MEN ARE BLOWN TO PIECES IN EXPLOSION.

Boilers In Mill at Canton Let Go.

MANY SERIOUSLY HURT

Body of One Victim Is Hurled Through Dwelling.

ENTIRE PLANT IS WRECKED

First Person on Scene After the Disaster Counted Ten Dead Bodies and Helped Rescue Survivors—Every Window Within Radius of Quarter of a Mile Shattered.

Canton, O., May 18.—Ten men are known to be dead and many were injured in a boiler explosion at the plant of the American Sheet and Tin Plate company, on South Harrison avenue. Howard Rex, assistant superintendent of the American Sheet and Tin Plate company, said that 25 or 30 men were dead.

The dead: Charles Brown, heater; John Wheeling, George Bole, Jay Henry, Harry Baltzley, Herman Lohmeyer, Stultz; three unidentified, mangled beyond recognition.

The missing: Charles Dewitt, engineer; William Austin, fireman; Roman Boyer, ash hauler.

Over 100 men were in the mill at the time of the explosion, and it is not believed that more than a dozen escaped injury, a large number of these being mortally injured. Seven boilers of 1,200 horsepower each exploded simultaneously in an L-shaped addition near the middle of the main mill. All employees connected with that department were blown to atoms. It is believed.

The dead bodies, strewn about where they were thrown by the force of the explosion, presented the most ghastly spectacle that Canton has ever witnessed. Many are thought to be buried in the debris, which caught fire immediately after the explosion. It is believed the flames were extinguished before they reached any of the injured men.

One body was thrown by the force of the explosion through the side of the home of Henry Rake, a square and a half away from the wrecked plant. The body passed through the house and came out on the other side. It landed on a fence and knocked it down.

Another body was picked up at the plant of the Timken Roller Bearing axle company, a half mile away from the scene of the explosion. A human hand crashed through the window of an office 75 feet away.

The cause of the explosion is unknown. The boilers were supposed to be in good shape. The men had no warning. The members of the office escaped injury.

The whole side of the plant was blown out by the explosion. Windows are broken in all houses within a ra-dus of a quarter of a mile. The whole section in the vicinity of the plant is strewn with debris from the mill.

Louis Hughes, a fireman, and A. W. Kaufman, storekeeper, were standing in the storehouse, 200 feet away from the main plant, at the time of the explosion. The storehouse was completely demolished, but both men escaped death. Kaufman had only a few cuts and bruises, while Hughes sustained a broken leg.

Patients at the Ingleside hospital who were able gave up their rooms at Ingleside so that the injured could be cared for.

The mill is practically a wreck, the interior being blown to smithereens. The shell of the boiler was blown a distance of 600 feet north of the plant.

P. V. McLean, construction engineer for the Canton Sheet Steel company, was among the first on the scene. "I personally saw 10 dead workmen," said Mr. McLean. "I helped to dig out the bodies, and succeeded in finding two, one of an American and one of a foreigner."

STREET CAR STRIKE ENDED

East Liverpool Men Win Contention For Closed Shop.

East Liverpool, O., May 18.—The strike of the employees of the Newell Street Railway company was settled, the men winning the point they struck for, that is, a closed or union road. There was no question about wages. The arbitration clause was made stronger, inasmuch as hereafter, if either side refuses to arbitrate, the county court will have power to appoint three arbitrators. Cars were immediately started.

EARTH AND COMET TO PASS TONIGHT

Scientists Say Event Will Be Tame Affair.

New York, May 18.—Hold tight to a lamp post or something after dinner tonight as you begin to go through the tail of Halley's comet at the speed of about 2,500 miles a minute. Tonight's the night. The latest news from the comet said that the tail is some place around 24,000,000 miles long and about 1,000,000 miles thick, or thin, and a tail like that is some tail to go through.

Statements that should reassure the timid tonight when the earth and the comet are closest were made by Professor Harold Jacoby, the Rutherford professor of astronomy at Columbia. "As for even so much as a luminous display when the earth passes through the remnants of the comet's tail," said the astronomer, "I think that those who will look for such luminosity will be disappointed. There is nothing whatever in the comet's tail worth worrying about. By next Saturday evening, especially during the first hour after sundown, the western sky should be a thing of beauty."

Cleveland, O., May 18.—"Fare, please," said a conductor on the Detroit avenue car as he reached for the ticket clasp in the hand of Peter Reininger. The passenger lurched forward and fell at the feet of the conductor, for it was a corpse which held the ticket.

London, May 18.—During the first hour after the body of King Edward was placed in Westminster 7,369 persons passed the catafalque, but the rate increased later, and when the hall was closed at 10 o'clock more than 53,000 had passed. The police shepherded the throng along the whole line with extreme patience and good nature. Some women fainted at various points, but most of them recovered. After the closing, King Alfonso of Spain went into the hall and stood with bowed head before the catafalque, where he had a silent prayer. Today the throng about the hall blocks traffic, and it is expected that the first day's record will be broken.

CALL KERBY TO WITNESS STAND

Stenographer Embellishes Previous Statement.

GIVES UP MORE SECRETS

Furnishes Tip Which Leads to Calling For More Letters From Ballinger, in Which It Is Disclosed That Secretary of Interior in Confidential Communication Asked Seattle Engineer to Tour Alaska For Purpose of Exploiting Properties.

Washington, May 18.—Frederick M. Kerby, a stenographer, who was dismissed by Secretary Ballinger because of his charges in regard to the so-called Lawler memorandum, took the stand before the Ballinger-Pinchot investigating committee and, under the guidance of Attorney Brandeis, embellished his previous statement. Oscar Lawler, the assistant attorney general of the interior department who was designated by President Taft to write the exoneration letter as if he himself were president, also was on the witness stand, and between the two they produced the greatest stir that has occurred at any session of the committee.

The developments of the day showed plainly that the Glavis-Garfield-Pinchot combination intend to use Stenographer Kerby for the purpose of bringing out further confidential information which he has in his possession in regard to the affairs of the interior department. Kerby testified that Mr. Allinger had planned to supply F. H. Newell, director of the reclamation service, by R. H. Thompson, former city engineer of Seattle. This testimony furnished the pretext for calling for letters that had passed between Mr. Thompson and Mr. Ballinger and between Secretary Ballinger and George W. Perkins of the firm of J. P. Morgan & Company. The letters showed that Secretary Ballinger had endeavored to get Engineer Thomson to accompany George W. Perkins on an Alaskan trip last summer. This trip, as Secretary Ballinger outlined it in confidential communications, was for the purpose of exploiting Alaskan mining and railroad properties. It has been the contention of the Glavis-Pinchot combine that Secretary Ballinger was playing into the hands of the Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate in the matter of the Cunningham Alaskan coal claims, and the introduction of the testimony was a move on the part of Attorney Brandeis to emphasize this charge. Kerby also testified that Secretary Ballinger made misstatements in his testimony before the committee.

The Modesty of Women

Naturally makes them shrink from the indelicate questions, the obnoxious examinations, and unpleasant local treatments, which some physicians consider essential in the treatment of diseases of women. Yet, if help can be had, it is better to submit to this ordeal than let the disease grow and spread. The trouble is that so often the woman undergoes all the annoyance and shame for nothing. Thousands of women who have been cured by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription write in appreciation of the cure which dispenses with the examinations and local treatments. There is no other medicine so sure and safe for delicate women as "Favorite Prescription." It cures debilitating drains, irregularity and female weakness. It always helps. It almost always cures.

"Favorite Prescription" is strictly non-alcoholic, non-secret, all its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper; contains no deleterious or habit-forming drugs, and every native medicinal root entering into its composition has the full endorsement of those most eminent in the several schools of medical practice.

Some of the numerous and strongest of professional endorsements of its ingredients will be found in a pamphlet wrapped around the bottle, also in a booklet mailed free on request, by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y. These professional endorsements should have far more weight than any amount of the ordinary lay, or non-professional testimonials.

The most intelligent women now-a-days insist on knowing what they take as medicine instead of opening their mouths like a lot of young birds and gulping down whatever is offered them. "Favorite Prescription" is of KNOWN COMPOSITION. It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., 31 one-cent stamps for cloth-bound copy.

If sick consult the Doctor, free of charge, by letter. All such communications are held sacredly confidential.
